

LONDON REGION IN MANUFACTURING

Park Royal Trading Estate

GMB, Britain's general union, has thousands of members employed by companies based in the Park Royal Trading Estate in London. We have recently received a very high level of concerns from our members relating to low pay and poor working conditions at some of these workplaces. Many of the employers concerned are making large profits from their businesses.

GMB has been successfully campaigning across London to encourage employers that it is only right to pay the real living wage to our members. GMB believes this should be a minimum of £10 per hour. If you are paid less than this, join our campaign and become a GMB member too.

What is GMB?

GMB has grown to be one of Britain's most powerful and forward looking forces for change.

Every day of the year GMB offers protection at work and solves problems for GMB members. GMB provides back up, representation and advice on every issue related to members' life at work.

How much are you getting paid?

Large profitable companies are cutting hours whilst receiving help from the government to pay the minimum wage. Your hard work has been taken for granted!

- GMB says you need £10.00 per hour
- The London Living Wage is £9.75 per hour
- The Living Wage Foundation is £8.45 per hour
- Our people get Minimum Wage £7.20 per hour only (this will increase to 7.50 from April 2017)

What GMB can do for you
